

Envy Green by The Arcadian Wild

Lyrics

Envy green, growin' ivy vines that hold me
Up they go, past the collar bones and freckles on my nose
Higher, higher 'til the words I tell myself are covered
Envy green
The trees with their branches reach for something higher
The tips of my fingers always think there's something better
Something more
Something worth longing for
The stars mark the sky and separate the seasons
Day brings a greater light to set apart the mornings
From the nights
Back and forth they fight
Oh-oh-oh
Caught up in the wonder
Oh, of one day being better
When my deepest, darkest blue
And the gold that paints your sky collide
The garden comes to life
Envy green, growin' ivy vines that hold me
Up they go, past the collar bones and freckles on my nose
Higher, higher 'til the words I tell myself are covered
Envy green
The secret inside of me is sick of silence
It's calling from the hollow for a greater sense of purpose
There is more
More we're intended for
Oh-oh-oh
Caught up in the wonder
Oh, of one day being better
When my deepest, darkest blue
And the gold that paints your sky collide
The garden comes to life
Envy green, growin' ivy vines that hold me
Up they go, past the collar bones and freckles on my nose
Higher, higher 'til the words I tell myself are covered
Envy green
What if we could take a taste of the maybe
Beyond what's been known and been named?
Bittersweet, we're blooming forth from the envy
There's freedom in the wisdom
But from the bite, Eve lost her Eden
Oh-oh-oh
Caught up in the wonder
Oh, we all wear this scarlet letter
It is written in our fate
And the fault is when our stars collide
The garden will grow wild
Envy green, growin' ivy vines that hold me
Up they go, past the collar bones and freckles on my nose
Higher, higher 'til the words I tell myself are covered
Envy green
Envy green
Envy green
The trees with their branches reach for something higher
The tips of my fingers always think there's something better
